The role of museums in people's life.

It is undoubtedly the case that museums play a pivotal role in the system of education of every country. There every visitor can get accustomed with the ~~historical~~ heritage of the country he is living in. That is why promoting museums and galleries is respectively as important as creating new exhibitions. ~~and organising~~ Museums, are they popular with people?

The statistics draw on a quite clear image: the overall museum attendance is growing with every year. But it is also important to notice that Natural History Museum and Science Museum have experienced a fall in the attendance rate after having introduced admission charges. Nevertheless the visitors number was growing for the past ^{three} years. But the museums that are ~~still~~ free to visit didn't stop ~~growing~~ increasing the attendance rate for the past five years. Nowadays the most popular museum is British museum and the ~~to~~ least popular one is Science museum. It is also essential to state that art galleries are on the second and third places, and appeal to people more than Natural History Museum.

Ameliorating the attendance.

From all the ways of increasing the visitors number I would put the highest premium on integrating new technologies in museums' exhibitions. It will attract younger visitors and their parents. Also it is crucial to organise exchange between different museums because people will be striving to see the never-seen masterpieces. ~~and~~

Due to these ameliorations museums can experience a substantial growth in attendance rate.

The importance of increasing the ~~visit~~ visitors number.
It is crucial to be sure that the citizens know the history of their country, so that they can be proud. Also museum educate the young generations and ~~so~~ preserve national heritage.
